"Colloquial English," in Harper's Monthly for January, is another of the delightful essays which have of late been a feature of this magazine. The author, Prof. A. S. Hill of Harvard University, seems to have in his mind an inexhaustible store of literary speech and anecdote, and he introduces them with pleasing skill into an article which in other hands might have been dry.

A Royal Company.

Yesterday afternoon the train brought quite a number of old veterans to this city, who were quickly hustled into carriages and conveyed to the home of E. A. Crane, Esq., where a warm welcome awaited them. The occasion was a reunion of the members of the old company C, Fourth Mich. cavalry, given to his former comrades by Mr. Crane. Sixteen of the old boys were present, and to say that they had enjoyed the occasion would be putting it altogether too mildly. An elegant supper was served, and the boys cannot say too much in praise of Mr. Crane's hospitality. As a token of their appreciation, they bought a handsome chair for their host, which was very neatly presented by Rev. W. A. Waterman. Mr. Crane made a short response, thanking the donors sincerely. The time was pleasantly passed until the midnight hour in anecdotes of the service, conversation, etc. Among the company were Jas. E. Bullard and George Munger, two of the immediate captors of Jeff. Davis. The company participated in ninety-six engagements during the war. The following is a list of the members present: Col. Burns, David Haines, Chas. Jenkins and E. A. Crane of Kalamazoo; Wesley Barker and R. T. Anderson of Port Huron; Geo. Munger of Cassellton, Dak.; E. C. Hazard, E. J. Lane, John Ryan and Howard Place of Lawrence, Mo.; Curry of Little Prairie, Minn.; R. M. Buck and Jas. F. Bullard of Paw Paw; Thomas Smeed of Schoolcraft. During the evening the following gentlemen dropped in to meet the boys and add to the good cheer of the occasion: Rev. W. A. Waterman, Gen. Wm. Shakespeare, Judge Geo. M. Buck, Ald. Palmer, Frank Larned, C. E. Foote, Holland Simmons, Harry S. Richards, Albert White.

Letters were received from a number of the old veterans, expressing regret that it was impossible for them to be present and extending best wishes to the rest of the company. The affair was in every way most enjoyable and one that will long be remembered by all who participated in it.—Kalamazoo Tel.
